WOMAN MAY WEAR TROUSERS, IS RULING OF BROOKLYN COURT

May Dress as She Pleases, Says Magistrate of This "Girl of Mystery."

woman can earn more money working as a man and masquerading in imasculine attire there is no law to prevent her from daing so. It is not a frime for a woman to dress as she gleases. This is what Magistrate Voorhees said this morning when Katherine Clark was arraigned in Adams Street Court, Brooklyn, charged with vagrancy. Still attired in her man's suit of blue grgs, with tight fitting trousers, silk socks and silk shirt and farrying her may cap in her hand, Katherine boldly glesped before Magistrate Voorhees when her case was called. In default of 2000 bond she had been kept in Raymond street jail since last Tuesday.

"What is your name?" asked Magistrate Voorhees, but the girl was mum.

"What is the charge against her?" syked the Court.

"Vagrancy, Your Honor," replied a fotoches," said the Magistrate. "There is no law to prevent a woman from dressing as she pleases. Doesn't Dr.
